BREWSTER'S MILLIONS

The production of "Brewster's Millions" at the Realty Opera House November 6, 1913 is an event of more than passing interest, as it marked the introduction, into the strictly dramatic field, of Frederic Thompson, the creator and builder of New York's great Hippodrome with its wonderful productions, and Luna Park the stupendous and magnificent resort on Coney Island. The fame of Frederic Thompson has resounded from sea to sea because of what he had done and it has all been so well done that it stands as a monument to his cleverness and ability.

In selecting a dramatization of McCutcheon's fascinating story, Brewster's Millions, with which to enter the dramatic world, Mr. Thompson has found a vehicle worthy his endeavors and one which will sustain his reputation. Those who have read the book can appreciate it as a great play. So odd, so entirely different in theme and treatment from any other work of fiction, and yet so possible, so cumulative and so intensely interesting, Brewster's Millions marks a distinct triumph in late dramatic achievements. Scientifically and mechanically it is a Frederic Thompson production. No more need be said. That means it is the best that can be made, to which must be added the additional flavor of his remarkable ability as a producer. The cast is an excellent one. The star part—that of Montgomery Brewster—is played by Louis Nison one of the very best of the younger generation of American actors well and favorably known throughout the country. The supporting company includes Katherine Francis, Emily Burke, Maise Ivie, Earl Christie, Beluah Leighton, Jack Murray, Jas. Morey, Frank Backus and other well known players.

CATARRH SUFFERERS

Surely use Hyomei. It's nature's true remedy for catarrh, bronchitis, croup of infants or any inflammatory disease of the breathing organs—you breathe it—no stomach dosing. Hyomei gives effective and immediate relief or money refunded.

Its healing balsams quickly reach the air cells of the nose, throat and lungs—the catarrhal germs are destroyed.

If suffering from droppings in the throat, watery eyes, husky voice, discharge from the nose or that choked up feeling—try Hyomei now—today—on the spot.
